Leadership Potential

From left to right - When I got promoted to management, (top) when I got employee of the month, (bottom) when I got verified to be a crew trainer.

Having a leadership role at my workplace has taught me a lot about how teamwork and listening skills make an excellent leader.

People want to be heard and I believe that no matter the title I hold, communication is the best form of leadership.

FBLA is a very important part of my academic career, so I take it very seriously and I want to implement the leadership skills I have acquired at work into my academic career.

My Goals

Increasing membership, chapters, and communication

Membership: Create activities to increase local membership.

Chapters: Advertise and communicate to more schools about the benefits of FBLA to increase awareness and incite new chapters all over the state of Maine.

Communication: Create social media pages for each chapter, advertise the conferences and competitions to peak interest on the social media pages.

I could never do this alone, so this plan is dependent upon all of us. We all need to work together to create the Future Business Leaders of Maine the best it can be!
